The Vincent J. Duncan Family Library Endowment

Vincent J. Duncan (’44) is president of Club Oil and Gas, Ltd., an oil exploration company in Denver, Colorado, where he and his wife, Annamarie, reside. Vincent is also the chairman of Durango Ski Corporation and the operator and owner of Purgatory Ski Resort in southwestern Colorado. In addition to serving on Notre Dame’s Advisory Council for the Hesburgh Libraries, he is a member of the University of Denver Chancellor’s Society, the Regis College President’s Council, the Lions Club, and other civic and professional organizations. Annamarie has been on the board of directors of St. Mary’s Academy High School in Denver, Colorado.

The Duncans have six children, three of whom are Notre Dame graduates.

The unrestricted nature of the Vincent J. Duncan Family Library Endowment enables the Hesburgh Libraries to supplement underfunded collections and areas of critical or imminent need. Such needs result when a new program is established, interdisciplinary studies spring up outside of departmental boundaries, or a new emphasis stretches the resources of traditional program support. The Duncan Endowment has helped to support collections in a variety of disciplines, including gender studies, the history of technology, and computer science.
