Patrick W. and Ann Foxen Kenny established the Mary E. Kenny Library Collection in Medieval Studies in 1998 in honor of Pat’s mother, Mary. Pat (’64) is president and chief executive officer of the International Insurance Society. Involved with a number of nonprofit organizations over the years, Pat also serves on the Advisory Council for the Hesburgh Libraries at Notre Dame.

Married in 1966, Pat and Ann have two daughters, Maura (’95) and Cassandra.

The collections of the Medieval Institute at Notre Dame are among the best in the world. Earnings from the Kenny Endowment are used for broad-based enhancements to support the University’s curricular and research initiatives. As such, the endowment assists in the acquisition of resources in all formats, from books to paper and electronic journals to electronic databases.
