Peter Pilliod is president of Idea Italia, Inc., and past chairman of the board of the Pilliod Cabinet Company in Ohio, a company founded by his great-grandfather. At Notre Dame, he is a member of the Advisory Council for the Hesburgh Libraries. Pete and his wife, Sandy, have two daughters, Barbara and Debra.

The Pilliod Family Library Endowment, another in the family of unrestricted endowments with which the Hesburgh Libraries are able to fund collections, services, and programs outside the scope of those underwritten by University allocations, is used for the support of resources outside the social sciences and humanities.

With assistance from the Pilliod Endowment, the Hesburgh Libraries are able to meet significant research materials needs in the area of science and technology. Candidates for acquisition via Pilliod support include costly yet necessary monographs and sets, as well as materials in developing research interests within the University.

The Pilliod family supports a second endowment at the Named level.
